

2010-2011 Ocean County Housing Resource Guide

Prepared by:
Ocean County Department of Human Services

In partnership with:
Ocean County Senior Services & Board of Social Services

NOTE!

The Housing Resource Guide of Ocean County was created by the Coordinator of the Ocean County Office for Individuals with Disabilities. Some agencies may have a wait list for housing with no guarantee on length or availability of services. This guide is strictly informational and in no way indicates an endorsement, nor does the absence of a service or agency from this list signify disapproval. Each listing, within a section, is categorized according to the populations served and the type of assistance offered.

Type of Assistance Offered

Site: These are physical sites of housing (or main offices of housing sites) that are available to eligible applicants.

Services: This indicates that the listing provides some kind of service to its clients that is relevant to the category it is under, for example- medication monitoring, counseling, supervision, credit counseling, legal services, etc.

Financial Assistance: This indicates that monetary assistance may be available for eligible applicants. This may be one time only, limited or extended, direct to client or indirect (to mortgage company, landlord, etc.).

Information and/or Advocacy: These agencies or organizations can provide information about local resources and guidance. Some agencies will also advocate on your behalf.

Congregate Apartments

Congregate apartment housing is specifically designed multi-housing for independent to semi-independent people, and includes community social and dining facilities. Individual units include, at minimum, a living room/bedroom, bathroom and kitchenette. These facilities offer at least one hot meal per day and some housekeeping services. Transportation and personal assistance services may also be available, with fees included or billed separately. Currently, there is no specific licensing for congregate housing. Congregate apartment housing can be found in both market-rate and subsidized facilities for the elderly.

Continuing Care Retirement Communities

Continuing care retirement communities (CCRC) provide housing, services and health care (including long-term care) to people of retirement age. A CCRC regulated by the NJ Department of Community Affairs must provide increasing levels of care according to the needs of the individual residents, beginning with independent living and a variety of health and nursing services. Meals, housekeeping, linens, 24-hour security, and recreation services are usually provided. Generally, there is a substantial entrance fee (ranging from $40,000 to $200,000) and monthly fees that guarantee shelter and access to various health care services, whether these services are prepaid or on a fee-for-service basis. Nursing facilities are licensed by the NJ Department of Health and Senior Services.

Long-Term Care/ Nursing Homes

Nursing homes provide 24-hour medical care for those who need nursing care but not hospitalization. A registered nurse or licensed practical nurse is on duty, though nurse aides provide most of the hands-on care. Some nursing homes specialize in a certain kind of care, such as care for Alzheimer's disease or rehabilitation. Compare nursing homes online at www.medicare.gov/NHCompare

Rental Assistance/ Section 8

Section 8 Existing Housing program, administered through the NJ Department of Community Affairs, subsidizes recipients so that they can afford decent, safe, housing in the private rental market. Applications are accepted when funding permits and a waiting list does exist. State Rental Assistance Program provides rental assistance grants, comparable to the federal Housing Choice Voucher Program, for low-income individuals or households.

Subsidized Housing

Subsidized housing refers to apartments or attached housing where the amount of rent is based on the income of the household. The state or federal government usually finances construction or rental costs, and the units are sponsored by non-profit or limited-profit organizations or public housing authorities. There are usually lengthy waiting lists for subsidized housing.

Utilities Assistance

Utilities assistance programs are designed to prevent homelessness and maintain habitable homes by offering limited financial support for utility costs to low to moderate income individuals and families who are at risk of having the basic utilities shut off because of financial hardship. Many programs are limited to once per year.
